1. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 10, the language of "disconnected from oscillation" is not correct since "oscillation" is not an apparatus. The expression of "disconnected from a mold oscillator" is suggested. In line 14, the word "U-shape" is misspelled. In claim 4, line 2, there is a lack of antecedent basis in the claim for "the drive unit (14)".

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1 and 2 insofar as definite are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 9-57,401 and further in view of US 5,664,619 to Anderson et al..

JP '401 substantially shows the invention as claimed except that it does not show to place fixed parts of EM means in water tank for cooling the same and as well as the mold plates such that to generate a closed magnetic flux through the water tank. However, Anderson et al. show that it is conventional to place the fixed parts of the EM means in the water tank and thereby to cool the same in addition to cool the mold plates. It would have obvious to place the fixed part of the EM means of JP '401 in a water tank for cooling the same and the mold plate in view of Anderson et al. such that to facilitate the continuous casting process.

5. Claims 3 and 5 insofar as definite are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 9-57,401 in view of US 5,664,619 to Anderson et al. as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of US 5,613,548 to Streubel et al.

It would have been obvious to further provide the mold with filler pieces for varying the magnetic field in view of Streubel et al. who show that feature to be conventional.

6. Claims 4 and 6-9 insofar as definite are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 9-57,401 in view of US 5,664,619 to Anderson et al. as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of JP 59-229,265.

It would have been obvious to provide the actuator means and guide for moving the EM parts 6c and 7A of JP '401 in view of JP '265 to facilitate the moving process. It would also have been obvious to provide antifriction means between two relative moving parts wherever it deems necessary to facilitate the moving process. With respect to claim 6, the EM means in JP '401 will also generate certain degree of EM force for holding parts together.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
